

Join the
Orange Side

We are looking for the next possible date, full time, for a

Full Stack Developer (m/f/d)

About FLEXOPTIX

Since 2008, Flexoptix has been successfully developing and marketing solutions for network transceivers under the motto "Less bullshit more engineering". We are in the telecommunications sector and, with more than 75 employees, we have positioned ourselves in an internationally growing market thanks to our "orange" and pragmatic mindset.

Benefits of working with us include:

- Germany's largest natural Christmas tree, on our technology campus
- Company pension plan, IT and office equipment as requested, health and sports offers, fresh fruit, cereal, mineral water, tea and coffee
- You are invited to personal development through workshops, conferences, language courses, advanced training and webinars
- Our office is easily accessible by public transport (our "Kuehler Grund" bus stop is on campus); by car (5 minutes from the A5 exit); and by bike (covered bicycle parking space and warm showers are available)
- International customers and partners in almost 100 countries
- Great colleagues - our "orange" team is international and welcoming
- A pleasant and modern working environment in a company that develops positively even in challenging times and invests in the future
- Suggestion-based work and the opportunity to implement creative ideas

As a Full Stack Developer (m/f/d), you will be responsible for:

- Maintenance, support, further and new development of our business software
- Designing and developing software solutions together with colleagues from other teams
- Connection to our ERP system
- Optimization of existing processes
- Design technical documentation

Role requirements as a Full Stack Developer (m/f/d):

- A computer science degree or a comparable computer science education
- Development experience: 2-3 years
- Programming languages: Java, Javascript/Typescript
- Framework experience: Angular or similar (v.g. React)
- Nice to have: Quarkus
- Passion for software development
- Business fluent in German and English

If this role aligns with your skills and experience, please send your complete application, including salary expectations and desired starting date, to:

jobs@flexoptix.net

We look forward to reviewing your application!

